

FOREVER SQUAM

The Squam Lakes Conservation Society (SLCS), one of New Hampshire's oldest land trusts, is dedicated to preserving the unique quality and character of the Squam watershed. Since 1960, SLCS has helped protect over 6,500 acres, including 18 miles of shoreline. An accomplishment to be enjoyed for generations.

There is no watershed more deserving of permanent protection than Squam, and no community more motivated. The story of Squam's conservation ethic is built upon family, shared values and a willingness to invest in its preservation. The fact that 99% of the conserved land in the watershed has been protected via non-profit land trusts and not by the government speaks of the desire to maintain the close community that is Squam.

Our hope and ambition for the next half-century is to build upon Squam's exemplary tradition of conservation. In order to do this, SLCS, through our members, must increase its reach, stewardship, and the awareness of the role land conservation plays in shaping and defining our community.

SLCS thanks all our current members and asks you to encourage friends and family to join us in the protection and stewardship of our most treasured natural resources.
